Course of Study

ADVANCED BAND (Symphonic Band)

I. INTRODUCTION

A. Purpose

Symphonic Band is an advanced course in the instrumental music program and is intended for students who are prepared, through completion of Beginning and/or Concert Band (or equivalent training), for this performance level.

This is a multi-grade, multi-level, lab ensemble class which allows students to finely tune their technical, ensemble and musicianship skills with a strong emphasis on the group product, public performance, and on the achievement of satisfying aesthetic experiences through the rehearsal and performance of suitable grade III and IV concert band literature.

Symphonic Band prepares the student for participation in college musical ensembles and other community amateur or professional musical groups. Individual practice to perform the assignments is necessary. Performances are required and these may include classical and "pops" concerts and solo or small ensemble events, during and after school hours.

B. Tamalpais District Outcomes, National Standards for Arts Education

This class particularly addresses the following Tamalpais District Student Learning Outcomes:

- # 2 Read/view and analyze material in a variety of disciplines
- #11 Appreciate, interpret, experience, create and/or perform artistic work

C. Articulation with Other Department Courses

Symphonic Band serves as the advanced class in the band sequence. Students may work through Beginning Band and Concert Band for their eventual placement in Symphonic Band, or may audition into the ensemble with instructor's consent. Concert Band may also lead to participation, with concurrent enrollment, in supplementary music classes such as Jazz Band.

D. Course Goals

Symphonic Band allows students to refine their technical, ensemble and musicianship skills, through study, rehearsal, and performance of advanced concert band literature. Also, this class continues to develop group ensemble skills and the aesthetic experience of artistic performance of appropriate level band literature. The class prepares students for participation in further college or community musical activities.

II. STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES

A. Course Outcomes

Symphonic Band is the advanced class in the band sequence, in which students serve as fully functional and contributing members of a large artistic ensemble. III. ASSESSMENT

A. Student Assessment

The teacher will evaluate the student's performance and will give a course grade based on objective in-class written and performance test, written and/or aural reports, an evaluation of the students individual and ensemble performance in a group of this level, the teacher's assessment of the student's daily attendance, rehearsal participation and contribution, and the student's attendance at required in-school and after school concerts and other performances. Written criteria for these assessments will be given to the student at the beginning of the school year or semester.

B. Course Assessment

The effectiveness of this course will be assessed at least once a year using a variety of information including the instructor's subjective evaluation and student feedback in various forms such as comments or a survey.

IV. METHODS AND MATERIALS

A. Methods

Symphonic Band is a lab class taught through ensemble rehearsal and performance. Emphasis is on the improved technical and esthetic quality of the ensemble product. The venue for this is the class rehearsal and most of the rehearsal time and effort is given to individual and sectional attention as deemed most appropriate by the instructor. Additionally, students may listen to or watch recordings of significant or relevant performance and be expected to discuss, analyze, give aural or written reports, and/or critique their own or other's performances.

B. Materials

These or similar musical selections may be used:

A Festival Prelude by Alfred Reed
Scenes from "The Louvre" by Norman Dello Joio
Overture to Candide by Bernstein arr. by Beeler
Liberty Bell March by Sousa

Supplementary material may also be used such as:

Ensemble Drill by Fussell
Total Musicianship by Bencrushuto
24 Arban-Klose-Concone Studies arranged by Rusch
42 Chorales for Band arranged by Gordon

Appropriate aural and visual recording may be used.

C. Technology

Computer technology may be used for tutorials and ear training. Audio recording software such as Pro Tools or Digital Performer will be used to capture performance for later critique. A TV-VCR will be used to present appropriate tutorials and performances and a video camera may be used to record student performances. A sound system will be used for playing recordings and recording equipment will be used to record student performances. An electronic tuner and an electronic metronome may be used.

V. GENERAL INFORMATION

Symphonic Band is a year-long ten credit course which may be repeated for credit provided the student maintains a grade of "C" or better.

A. Prerequisites

Admission to this class requires the permission of the instructor plus either satisfactory completion of Beginning Band with a grade of "C" or better, a preceding semester of Concert Band with a grade of "C" or better, or successful completion of an audition.

B. Graduation Requirements

Successful completion of one full year in this class satisfies the district's one year Fine Arts Graduation Requirement and equals 10 credits. The course may also be used in partial fulfillment of the district's elective credit requirement

C. UC/CSU Entrance Requirements

This course is accepted for UC/CSU "f" or "g" admissions requirement and the CSU Fine Arts requirement.
