

Part I: Joined at the Hip

1. According to narrator Ted Koppel, what is the Chinese paradox?
2. What are the two current priorities of Chinese education?
3. Compare the demolition of a building in the U.S. compared to in China.
4. _____ people in Chonqing are doing work related to construction; the current population of Chonqing is _____.
5. What are the Chinese government's goals for Chonqing?
6. What do Li Don's parents do? What is their total combined annual income? How much of that goes to her school tuition, room and board?

Part III: The Fast Lane

7. What is the good news and bad news about cars in China?
8. How does Koppel describe the Chinese government?
9. How many cars are there in China right now? By what year will China surpass the U.S. in the number of cars owned?
10. What proportion of cars bought in China are manufactured by major foreign car makers? ____ out of 4
11. What three adjectives would you use to describe the president of LiFan Motors? Why?

Part IV: It's the Economy Stupid

12. What is happening to old neighborhoods in China? Why?
13. What stands out to you about the conversation between Koppel and the woman who is promoting the expansion and development of Chonqing?